OBJECTIVE

I want to put my experience of troubleshooting and repairing hardware to good use. I have been working with electronics since I was 10 taking apart my first computer (a PlayStation 3 controller) and successfully repairing it. I am determined especially towards finishing projects I start. I have proven myself to have strong leadership skills and will continue to prove if necessary. I am looking to gain employment with a company where both I and the company benefit from each other's experience.
